Shop and Save

- Uncooked (dried) lentils are inexpensive. Purchase them pre-packaged or from bulk bins.
- Cooked lentils are available canned or frozen but may cost more. Rinse canned lentils under fresh water to lower the sodium content.
- Bulk bins are a great lowcost place to find different kinds of dried lentils. Remember to note the recommended cooking time for different types.
- International food markets may have many varieties of dried lentils.

Lentil Basics

Lentils are an excellent source of protein

Tasting for tenderness is the best guide to doneness

Store Well Waste Less

Store dried lentils in an airtight container in a cool, dark, dry place. Use within 1 year for best flavor and less cooking time.

Cooked lentils can be refrigerated for up to 1 week or frozen for up to 3 months. Divide into recipe-sized portions for quick use.

Types of Lentils

- Lentils do not need to be soaked, and cook more quickly than beans.
- Check the package or bulk bin for cooking time.

Brown lentils—flat shape: tan color; most common type; labeled as "Lentils"; cost the least; mild flavor; keep their shape unless cooked for a long time or at a rapid boil.

Green lentils—flat shape: pale green color; widely available; mild flavor; keep their shape.

French green lentils

(de Puy)—small; dark green; peppery taste; keep their shape but have a slightly longer cooking time.

Red lentils-red, orange, or vellow; turn golden when cooked; mild, slightly sweet flavor. Red lentils are split, so they cook quickly but can become mushy.

Black lentils (Beluga)—small and round; black, shiny; strong earthy flavor; often more expensive; longer cooking time.
